

If network and station executives had to rely on closed captioning for comprehension of broadcast material things would be different. We would have consistently accurate captioning, and would probably have real time captioning. We need captioning for live news reports and for taped sound bites. We deserve captioning for the weather and traffic reports. It is way past time for things to improve.